

THE UNIVERSITY

Saint Joseph's University

Spirit | Intellect | Purpose

Founded in 1851, Saint Joseph's is an independent, Catholic, Jesuit university that teaches disciplined reasoning, effective communication, and a love of learning. From Willings Alley in Old City Philadelphia to Stiles Street in North Philadelphia to its current location on City Avenue, Saint Joseph's has continued to grow and change with the times. The University combines the Jesuit tradition of academic excellence, a history of service, and an ideal campus location to produce successful students who seek to make a good world even better. An academically rigorous and supportive community, Saint Joseph's challenges its students to exceed their highest professional and personal ambitions, fosters the mature development of values, and deepens a desire to help shape the world. These characteristics are reflective of the University's core values of Spirit | Intellect | Purpose.

Full-time, undergraduate day enrollment is approximately 4,515. Graduate, evening and executive programs push total enrollment to more than 7,600.

SPIRIT

Men and women leave Saint Joseph's prepared. The University boasts an excellent record of its graduates earning initial employment, enrollment in professional schools, and other advanced-degree programs. Part-time work and internships provide real-world experiences, the kind which delight future employers. And with its many diverse student organizations, SJU offers ample opportunities to assume leadership positions.

An extensive on-campus recruitment program provides graduates with a head start in their employment search. Regular meetings with faculty advisors – along with advisory programs in the health professions and in pre-law – assist students who wish to further their schooling.

SJU's City Avenue location combines the best of dynamic Philadelphia with the suburban, residential setting of the elegant Main Line. Saint Joseph's 65 acres span two counties, allowing students to literally enjoy the best of both worlds. The city of Philadelphia, with its tremendous wealth of historical, cultural, social, and athletic attractions, is easily accessible, while the safety, serenity, and greenery of a suburban campus are right at hand.

The friendly atmosphere and close-knit campus ensure that students don't get lost literally or figuratively at Saint Joseph's.

Saint Joseph's University

INTELLECT

Saint Joseph's nationally recognized academic reputation is confirmed by ongoing acknowledgment in Barron's, U.S. News & World Report, Forbes and Peterson's. The Jesuit tradition of intellectual inquiry and personal concern manifests itself in small, challenging classes taught by a caring faculty. Graduate assistants do not teach, so undergraduates receive the very best educational experience. One-on-one interaction among students and faculty is a reality at Saint Joseph's.

A solid liberal arts curriculum provides across-the-board learning for every student. Supporting that curriculum are comprehensive academic majors and learning facilities. The result is a broad education that prepares students not only for employment and graduate school, but also for life itself.

In the fall of 1998, SJU opened the $25 million Owen A. Mandeville Hall, which houses the Erivan K. Haub School of Business, the Center for Food Marketing and Wolfington Teletorium, the region's only "Teletorium" and "Moot Boardrooms." An 87,000-square-foot international academic center featuring state-of-the-art distance learning technology, it is located near the corner of 54th Street and City Avenue.

PURPOSE

The students of Saint Joseph's University are dedicated to bettering today's world. A natural spirit of volunteerism has enabled the University's community service programs to become the most popular extracurricular activities on campus. In addition, a service learning program allows students to receive academic credit for their work outside the classroom.

SJU offers local, national and international opportunities for student service. From parts of Philadelphia to New Jersey; from Tijuana, Mexico, to the Appalachian Mountains; and from Ecuador to Tanzania, Saint Joseph's students embrace the Jesuit mission of serving those in need. The Thanksgiving Dinner Dance for area senior citizens and the Hand-in-Hand Festival for the handicapped are two annual student-run events that draw thousands of special visitors to campus for fun and friendship.

Saint Joseph's received its highest ranking ever by U.S. News and World Report.

The magazine's 2009 "America's Best Colleges" issue ranks Saint Joseph's eighth in the category Best Universities-Master's (Northeast).

College of Arts and Sciences

Students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences pursue a major course of study in one of the college's three divisions: humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences and mathematics (see below for a complete list of majors). Students who wish to explore intellectual questions and themes embodied in the intersection of two disciplines may create an inter-departmental major.

The College of Arts and Sciences is also home to many special academic programs designed to enrich the undergraduate experience and underscore a commitment to experiential learning. These offerings include service-learning programs, study abroad, internships, and R.O.T.C. Through these opportunities, Saint Joseph's students gain valuable experience that coincides with the Jesuit tradition of making a difference in the world through the spread and pursuit of knowledge – in the classroom and beyond.

Erivan K. Haub School of Business

Students in the Erivan K. Haub School of Business approach their professional curriculum with the valuable skills of a strong liberal arts foundation. This component of their education ensures that students can enter the business world as analytical and critical thinkers, well practiced in oral and written self-expression. Every course is influenced by the Haub School's location in state-of-the-art Mandeville Hall, a building that set a national standard for classroom technology. Students and faculty plug laptops into network ports in any seat, and classes are taught from computer-driven podiums networked directly to student computers.

Experiential learning is as fundamental to the Haub School of Business as in the College of Arts and Sciences. This includes service projects such as developing a financial plan for a Philadelphia area not-for-profit and internships selected in conjunction with faculty and Career Development Center advisors. Students may also participate in the Cooperative Education Program associated with every major in the school.

A Demanding Education for Demanding Times

Students come to Saint Joseph's University seeking a values-based learning experience. They join a community that regards questions of ethics, morality and faith as centrally important to human existence, and they are encouraged to examine, reinforce and question their most deeply held beliefs.

At the same time, Saint Joseph's students are moved and guided to develop fully every facet of their intellectual potential, bringing into harmony theory and practice, tradition and innovation. Cultivating a compelling determination to maximize one's innate abilities has taken on greater urgency in today's enormously complex and competitive world. Thus, the University sets ever-higher educational standards for its students.

The caliber of Saint Joseph's academic programs, students and faculty attests to its growing national reputation.

Campus Life at Saint Joseph's University

The culture of Saint Joseph's invites students to give fully of themselves and be actively involved in all aspects of campus life. Most take advantage of the opportunities available to them to grow intellectually, socially, physically, morally, ethically, and spiritually. This infectious spirit of positive engagement creates a highly dynamic and interactive community, built upon Catholic, Jesuit values.

Personal integrity and concern for others distinguish campus life. Students support one another, respect differences, discover common bonds and build lifelong friendships during their years at the University. Their attachment to the extended Saint Joseph's community remains strong throughout their lives and serves as a guiding example for how to live in a wider world as caring family members and engaged citizens.

Maguire Campus

The 38-acre James J. Maguire '58 Campus, longtime home of the Episcopal Academy, adds 52 classrooms, eight full laboratories, 113 offices, and 14.5 acres of sports fields to Saint Joseph's University's current 65-acre footprint. In the years to come, the positive impact on academic offerings, student life, athletics, arts, and community outreach will be immeasurable.

Center City

SJU's Philadelphia location gives students access to two worlds. The campus resembles a park, surrounded by the stately homes of Philadelphia's historic Main Line suburbs. Center City's cultural, commercial, and recreational activities are only a short ride away.

SJU students take frequent advantage of the artistic and cultural resources Philadelphia offers – the Philadelphia Museum of Art, the Franklin Institute Science Museum, and the Kimmel Center for the Performing Arts, to name a few. In addition to rooting for their beloved Hawks, SJU students can be found cheering on the eight professional sports teams in the city, particularly the Eagles, Flyers, Phillies and 76ers.

An Expansive Metropolitan Experience

Saint Joseph's University is closely allied with the entire Philadelphia region. Due to its unique City Line location, students enjoy both a tranquil campus and ready access to the city's diverse population, vibrant cultural life, major-league sports and entertainment, rich history and abundant professional opportunities. Philadelphia – the nation's sixth largest city and hub of the Northeast corridor – serves as a kind of alternate campus for Saint Joseph's students.

Students take advantage of the city in many ways. Thanks to an extensive and supportive alumni network, they obtain internships with leading companies and other regional employers, take part in cooperative learning programs and find rewarding positions in the corporate, government and service sectors.

Administration

Timothy R. Lannon, S.J. President

Timothy R. Lannon, S.J., is in his sixth year as president of Saint Joseph's University.

Fr. Lannon began his term as Saint Joseph's 26th president in July 2003. Since then he has led many significant University initiatives, most notably the agreement to purchase the 38-acre campus of the neighboring Episcopal Academy. The acquisition – known as the James J. Maguire '58 Campus – will provide unparalleled flexibility to enhance academic programs and facilities.

Under Fr. Lannon's stewardship, the University vastly upgraded student housing and parking options with the opening of the Borgia and Rashford Residence Halls in August 2004, the 54th Street retail and parking structure in 2007, and the acquisition of the Maguire Campus in 2008.

Fr. Lannon has also played a major role in boosting Saint Joseph's academic profile, an effort which includes recently endowed faculty chairs and student scholarships as well as the opening of the Pedro Arrupe Center for Business Ethics and Institute of Catholic Bioethics. A major curricular-review initiative and the hiring of more than 50 new full-time faculty over a five-year period will serve to further strengthen the University's academic position. SJU has attained its best-ever U.S. News ranking (8th, Northeast) in the 2009 "America's Best Colleges" edition.

He has worked tirelessly to re-engage the University in its mission and to foster expanded outreach efforts to alumni, governmental leaders, and other external constituencies. In the latter role, he serves as chair of the City Avenue Special Services District (CASSD). As a central tenet of his leadership, Fr. Lannon has articulated a vision for Saint Joseph's to be recognized as the preeminent Catholic comprehensive university in the Northeast.

Previously, he served as the vice president for university advancement and before that, as the associate executive vice president at Marquette University.

He serves on the Board of Trustees at Marquette University, St. Joseph's Preparatory School in Philadelphia, the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania.

Fr. Lannon has studied and written on Catholic identity at Jesuit universities. A native of Mason City, Iowa, he attended Creighton University as an undergraduate. He later returned to Omaha as president of Creighton Preparatory School. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1977 and was ordained a priest in 1986. Fr. Lannon also obtained two master's degrees from the Weston Jesuit School of Theology and has a professional diploma from Fordham University. He also holds a doctorate in Administration, Planning and Social Policy from the Graduate School of Education at Harvard University.

Administration

Dr. Cary Anderson Vice President for Student Life

Cary Anderson, Ed.D., assumed the post of vice president for student life at Saint Joseph's on June 1, 2007. He owns a wealth of experience in higher education and student affairs, along with a great familiarity with Jesuit institutions.

As vice president for student life, Dr. Anderson oversees many areas, including athletics and recreation, along with residence life, career development, student educational support services and counseling services, to name a few. Dr. Anderson came to SJU from Canisius College, where he served as the associate vice president and dean of students for eight years. Prior to that, he spent over nine years at the College of the Holy Cross, working first as complex director, then advancing to assistant dean of students and then to associate dean of students.

"The Jesuit philosophy on education resonates with my own personal educational philosophy," explained Dr. Anderson on his commitment to working with Jesuit institutions. "A lot of universities talk about educating their students with a concern for the common good, but Jesuit colleges and universities really act on this."

Dr. Anderson holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Iowa and a master's degree from Loyola University of Chicago. He earned his doctorate in education from the University of Massachusetts while working at Holy Cross.

He is a contributing columnist with several student affairs publications, and was recently elected editor of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA) Journal.

She earned her bachelor's degree in elementary and special education from Saint Joseph's in 2002 and then received her master's degree for certification as a reading specialist from SJU the next year. Originally from Westville, N.J., Pearce came to SJU after serving as a program specialist at the Kingsway Learning Center. She resides in Springfield, Pa., with her husband, Al.

Greder and Krimmel monitor academic progress of the student-athletes in compliance with SJU and NCAA rules and regulations. The office is a liaison between the athletic department and the faculty, while serving as a secondary academic advisor to the student-athletes, helping with registration, among other issues.

The office also assists student-athletes in career development and runs time management and study skills workshops throughout the academic year.

All freshman student-athletes, along with select upperclassmen, are required to attend study hall four nights a week. The office, located in the Science Center 113, has eight individual study rooms, each equipped with a computer.

Coordinated through the Office of Educational Support Services for Student-Athletes, Saint Joseph's student-athletes utilize numerous support programs available through the University. Those programs include the Learning Resource Center, Career Services, the Counseling Center and the Writing Center. The services available to student-athletes; career choice assistance, academic skills workshops, individual tutoring and personal development, allow for success in the present while preparing for the future.

The office is aware of the challenges today's student-athletes face both on and off the playing field. To prepare them, the Office of Educational Support Services for Student-Athletes organizes and facilitates a Life Skills Program. This is designed to provide student-athletes with educational experiences that will assist them in bridging the gap from high school to college and from college to professional life. The program is designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The Life Skills Program focuses on the individual as a whole – academically, athletically, and emotionally – and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during and after college. Among the wide range of topics covered are time management, stress management, resume writing and interviewing, alcohol and drug awareness, and financial planning.

The office also oversees the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC), which acts as liaison between the University community and the student-athlete body. Members are selected by respective coaches or team members at the beginning of each academic year. SAAC works to encourage and promote student-athletes to be student leaders that represent individual varsity teams and the entire athletic department as a vocal, integral part of the greater Saint Joseph's community.

Strength & Conditioning

Summit Sports Training Center

The Saint Joseph's men's basketball team utilizes the trainers and the services of the Summit Sports Training Center. Summit has three locations in Villanova, Pa.; West Chester, Pa.; and Cherry Hill, N.J.

The Summit Sports Training Center implements the most technological-ly advanced program for speed and overall sports performance. The center combines Athletic Republic acceleration training, martial arts, mental skills training, eye/hand/body coordination, and nutrition counseling to provide a safe, well-balanced training program.

Summit maintains an excellent athlete-to-trainer ratio, providing each individual with the personalized attention necessary to achieve his or her personal goals. Summit's team of professionals has over 100 years of combined experience training over 2,000 professional athletes.

Through its specialized programs, the athletes gain – and learn to maintain - a competitive edge in their chosen sport.

Summit Sports Training Center was named the "Best of Philly" by Philadelphia Magazine in 2006 and 2008.

The Center For Sports Psychology

At Saint Joseph's, there is an understanding that reaching one's athletic potential requires mental as well as physical skills. With that in mind, the athletic department provides sports psychology services for student-athletes, teams, and coaches, utilizing one of the nation's top sports psychologists, Dr. Joel Fish.

Student-athletes have access to Dr. Fish to develop mental skills for peak performance. Strategies are taught to help improve student-athlete confidence, composure, concentration, mental preparation, positive attitude, and clutch performance. Strategies are also designed to help teams develop effective communication and teamwork.

Coaches have Dr. Fish as a sports psychology resource to help with team building, motivation, mental toughness, and helping them work with different personality types. Team captains and leaders are taught effective leadership skills such as positive peer pressure and conflict resolution.

Student-athletes can meet individually with Dr. Fish to discuss off-the-field issues, such as stress management and personal relationships that are impacting upon athletic performance. Confidentiality is maintained in these individual meetings. Referrals, if indicated, are made to the University Counseling Center.

Saint Joseph's University recognizes that there is a connection between a sound mind and a sound body. Sports psychology is an example of the Athletic Department providing its student-athletes, teams, and coaches with a valuable resource for success on and off the playing field.

Saint Joseph's head coach Cindy Griffin will be available in the interview room following a post-game cooling off period. The Saint Joseph's locker room will not be open to the media.

Saint Joseph's Sports Network

For over 18 years, the Saint Joseph's Sports Network (SJSN) has produced and broadcast Hawk athletics to the Philadelphia region and beyond. Begun as an outgrowth of a four-game package of Saint Joseph's women's basketball broadcasts during the 1989-90 season, SJSN was founded in the fall of 1990. Since that time, SJSN's coverage of Hawk athletics has grown and currently includes live coverage of all Hawk men's and women's basketball games, Phil Martelli's HawkTalk radio program, the nationally-renowned HawkTalk television show and Courtside, the Saint Joseph's women's basketball show.

All of SJU's women's games can also be heard via audio streaming on the internet at the Hawks' official athletics site, www.sjuhawks.com. Video streaming of selected games will also be available on www.sjuhawks.com as part of the Hawks All-

Access package.

Saint Joseph's pioneered commercial radio of women's college basketball in the area with a NCAA tournament game in March 1989 and followed that up with a package of regular season games ever since. The Cindy Griffin pregame show kicks-off game broadcasts.

Matt Martucci Play-by-Play

Matt Martucci enters his third year as a member of the Saint Joseph's Sports Network. Martucci will once again serve as the play-by-play voice for Saint Joseph's women's basketball home games. Along with his role on the air, Martucci also serves as a producer for Phil Martelli's HawkTalk television program.

A 2006 graduate of Syracuse University with a degree in broadcast journalism, Martucci is coming off his second season of broadcasting minor league baseball, serving as the play-by-play announcer for the Atlantic City Surf of the Can-Am League. Martucci also works for Division III Lincoln University as the school's men's and women's basketball radio announcer and does play-by-play for Lock Haven University football.

Jack Jumper Play-by-Play

Returning for his fourth season on the SJSN is Jack Jumper, associate director of athletic communications at Saint Joseph's. Jumper will provide play-by-play for all road contests and select home games for the Hawks in 2008-09, as well as serve as producer for Courtside.

A 2002 graduate of St. Bonaventure University, Jumper has previously provided both play-by-play and color analysis for Saint Joseph's women's basketball games, as well as women's soccer, baseball, softball contests and the 2008 Atlantic 10 Baseball Championship.

Renie Shields Color Analyst

Returning for her 16th season as color analyst on the SJSN is Renie Shields, director of compliance services at Saint Joseph's.

A former standout on the hardwood for Saint Joseph's from 1979-82 and a member of the Hawk coaching staff from 1987-88 thru 1992-93, Shields is currently the director of compliance services at Saint Joseph's.

A Saint Joseph's and Philadelphia Big 5 Hall of Famer, Shields is responsible for all non-conference scheduling and serves as coordinator for the Hawk Classic.

Shields currently resides in Drexel Hill, Pa., with her husband Jim, a 1981 Saint Joseph's graduate, and their four children – James Jr., Kerri, Erin, and Shannon.

SJUHawks.com & CBS College Sports Network

The Hawks will again have a presence on television in 2008-09. Saint Joseph's game versus St. Bonaventure on February 8 will be nationally televised on CBS College Sports Network.

Saint Joseph's affiliation with the Atlantic 10 Conference plays an integral role in the exposure received by the Hawks and the other A-10 schools. CBS College Sports Network (formerly CSTV Networks, Inc.) entered into a long-term, comprehensive agreement with the Atlantic 10 Conference, including all 21 of the Conference's sports, prior to the start of the 2006-07 season.

The agreement consists of all conference-related media and marketing rights including television, national over-the-air and satellite radio, video-on-demand, internet, broadband, wireless, and exclusive corporate sponsorship and licensing rights to all Atlantic 10 sports during the regular season and postseason championships, including the women's and men's basketball championships. It also covers the rights for all regular season, postseason, and Conference championships.

CBS College Sports Network is the nation's leading digital sports media company and was the first company dedicated to the coverage of college sports. Through an array of platforms, CBS College Sports Network connects more college sports fans to their favorite schools and sports in more ways than any other media company. In addition to its national television network, which broadcasts 35 women's and men's college sports, CBS College Sports also has a network of nearly 250 official collegiate athletic websites, including Saint Joseph's and all of the Atlantic 10's member schools.

CBS College Sports Network recently launched more than 100 broadband channels dedicated to college sports. These are all available through CSTVXXL.com or the individual school sites. The entire CBS College Sports Network XXL package will include more than 10,000 live events this year. Saint Joseph's is among the 100-plus schools with All-Access broadband channels which will offer audio and video of live games, archived games, coaches shows, press conferences, ticketing and e-commerce.

Why S-a-i-n-t Joseph's University?

The corporate title "S-a-i-n-t" Joseph's University, which has been in place since Saint Joseph's was granted university status by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1979, is now the public title of the institution for all aspects of its operations. Previously, the abbreviation "St." Joseph's University was permitted in a number of alumni and athletic contexts.

The vast majority of academic and government publications have referred to Saint Joseph's University since at least 1986, as have most campus references with the exception of athletics. However, university-wide "image campaign" has revealed the need to clarify this policy both internally and externally.

According to the most recent edition of the Higher Education Directory, there are at least nine recognized "St. Joseph's" among the nation's colleges and universities. Only one of them - Saint Joseph's University, Philadelphia - is a university-level, Master's I, NCAA Division I institution. A complete spelling of Saint Joseph's University in all contexts will help eliminate any confusion among higher education and other public constituencies.

Style information for print, electronic and digital media is available. It includes accepted abbreviations of the corporate name (e.g., "SJU" or "St. Joe's" in headlines or certain informal references) as well as prohibited usages (e.g., partial abbreviations such as "St. Joseph's" or "Saint Joe's").

Please direct any questions to the Office of University Communications at (610) 660-1222.

Tradition & Spirit

Why Hawk Hill?

In the early 1920's, former University president Albert G. Brown, S.J., decided to move the college campus from its location just north of the city at 17th and Stiles to its current site on Philadelphia's city line. He selected the location in part because its hilltop perch overlooking downtown Philadelphia provided a dramatic setting for the construction of the college's main building, Barbelin Hall. In fact, for many years Barbelin's signature carillon tower ranked as the highest point from sea level in the city of Philadelphia. Later, according to oral tradition, students and faculty frequently saw real hawks circling the skies above Barbelin, before swooping down on their prey. The familiar scene eventually led to the coining of the moniker "Hawk Hill."

Crimson and Gray

The college colors of crimson and gray date back to the 1890's when it is related that a young seminarian leading a pep rally saw the colors on a book he was holding. Thinking they looked attractive together, he announced that these would be the school colors.

"The Hawk Will Never Die!"

The Hawk is one of the most famous mascots in the country, best known for staying in constant motion by flapping its "wings" from tip-off to the final buzzer of every game, as well as for "flying" in figure eights around the court during timeouts. The constant flapping, coupled with the scrappy play of the University's athletic teams, helped to spawn the school's familiar slogan "The Hawk Will Never Die!"

The Saint Joseph's University Pep Band, under the direction of Tim Laushey (photo at right), is made up of students from every class. They are often joined by other musicians who are alumni, friends and fans of the Hawks. When not leading the SJU band, his Tim Laushey Orchestra entertains many and backs numerous singers on the East Coast. This past season, the Hawk Pep Band partook in the "Think Pink" promotion alongside the Hawks and Duquesne to help promote breast cancer awareness.

Fight Songs

"Oh When the Hawks Go Flying In!"

(Sung to the tune of "When the Saints Go Marching In")

Oh, when the Hawks, go flying in,
 Oh, when the Hawks go flying in,
 I want to be in that number,
 When the Hawks go flying in.
 (Repeat above)
 Let's Go St. Joe!
 Let's Go St. Joe!
 Let's Go St. Joe!

"Mine Eyes"

(Sung to the tune of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic")

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Hawk,
 He is flying through the doorway 'cause he never, ever walks,
 He is flying through the rafters like a loyal, loyal Hawk,
 The Hawk will never die.

Glory, glory what a helluva way to fly,
 Glory, glory what a helluva way to fly,
 Glory, glory what a helluva way to fly,
 The Hawk will never die!

We have been to Cincinnati and we've been to Buffalo,
 We have been to Carolina flying high and flying low,
 And when we get to Maryland let everybody know,
 The Hawk will never die!

Glory, glory what a helluva way to fly,
 Glory, glory what a helluva way to fly,
 Glory, glory what a helluva way to fly,
 The Hawk will never die!

The Hawk

Kevin Hensler, The Hawk

The Saint Joseph's "Hawk" has been flapping its wings for over half a century, celebrating its golden anniversary in 2004-05.

The Hawk is one of the most famous mascots in college sports best known for staying in constant motion by flapping its "wings" from tip-off to the final buzzer of every game, as well as for "flying" in figure eights around the court during timeouts. The constant flapping, coupled with the scrappy play of the University's athletic teams, helped to spawn the school's familiar slogan "The Hawk Will Never Die!" ESPN used a "flap-o-meter" on a national telecast of a Saint Joseph's game to estimate that the Hawk flaps its wings 3,500 times during a regulation game.

The most decorated mascot in the country, the Hawk has garnered numerous accolades in its 50-year history. It has been selected as the nation's top mascot by The Sporting News, Sports Illustrated, Sports Illustrated for Kids, Street & Smith's Basketball Yearbook and ESPN College Basketball magazine. Eastern Basketball tabbed The Hawk as the Atlantic 10 Conference's best mascot, while The Hawk won a "Best of Philly" award in 2003-04.

Saint Joseph's University athletic teams have been recognized with the nickname "Hawks" since 1929. At that time, the school's yearbook editor, Charlie Dunn, initiated a contest among the student body for a symbol. More than 100 submissions were narrowed to two, with "Hawks" winning out over "Grenadiers" (World War I soldiers who specialized in tossing grenades) by a slim margin in the final vote. The winning suggestion was submitted by John Gallagher, Class of '31, who was a catcher on the Saint Joseph's baseball team. He won a sweater with a special Saint Joseph's monogram for selecting the winning name.

According to the student annual, the name was appropriate because it typified "the fighting spirit of our crimson and gray athletes and it is suggestive of the aerial attack which has made our football team famous." Football, ironically, was discontinued at Saint Joseph's following the 1939 season.

The idea for the Hawk as a mascot was originated by Jim Brennan during the 1954-55 season. Brennan, an ex-Marine and SJU cheerleader, at first wanted to secure an actual hawk, but later switched to the costume idea. The student government raised the 120 dollars needed to buy the initial costume, which Brennan donned for three years. He made his debut as the Hawk on January 4, 1956, a 69-56 win over La Salle at the Palestra. The Hawk, who was present at most women's basketball games, became a main-stay in 1989. Since then, nine SJU students have donned the costume.
